Dear Parishioners,

“I have come to set the earth on fire (Luke 12: 49).” What does Jesus possibly mean with these words from today’s Gospel? It is obviously a metaphor for something. Or, is it? A reading of this line as part of the whole of Scripture suggests that Jesus does mean “fire.” The “fire” is a divine fire, the fire of the Holy Spirit that came to rest upon the Apostles at Pentecost, the fire of the same Holy Spirit given to every one of us at the time of our Baptism, with Confirmation and every time we receive Holy Communion. It is the fire of the Holy Spirit that gives us the grace and courage to witness to Christ as his followers and with him as sons and daughters of our Father in Heaven. This fire of the Holy Spirit is sorely needed in the Church, in the world, today. Our time is not a Christian time. Our culture is not a Christian culture. We cannot simply coast along hoping that things for ourselves, our families and friends will soon return to the Christian values that were common place not so long ago. Rather, with confidence in Christ and his Holy Spirit—a confidence that comes from his victory over death on the cross—we need to live bold Christian lives and invite others to do the same. We should not be afraid or shrink away from this responsibility. Jesus does tell us that our own embracing of him and his word will often be a cause of division, even among those closest to us. However, it is a far greater injustice toward those we love to keep them in the dark of sin and not to assist them to turn to the light of truth. Living an authentic Christian life is not an easy task for anyone. In fact, it many times seems like an isolated life. Yet, we are never alone. Christ goes ahead of us and is with. The Holy Spirit strengthens us and emboldens us. I say, let’s get to work and build the fire. Such a fire blazes for the glory of God and the salvation of others.

In just a few weeks, we will resume our weekly Thursday evening catechetical sessions which are intended primarily for the adults in our community seeking Baptism, Confirmation and the Eucharist. The first session will be on Thursday, September 12, 2019, from 7:00 PM to 8:30 PM in the Neumann Room, directly behind the Cathedral Basilica. If you are already a fully initiated member of the Church and the catechetical topic interests you, please come. Everyone is welcome! If you are an adult with a desire to receive the Sacraments of Christian Initiation—Baptism, Confirmation and the Eucharist, please contact Ken Bradley, ken.bradley@cathedralre.org. We already have a number of adults ready to join us for our first session. Also, we are always in need of parish sponsors—or mentors—for these adults seeking the Sacraments. If this important and good work interests you, please contact Edward Specht, cathedralreligiouseducation@gmail.com, for more information.

Over the last two weeks and continuing into this week, work has been done to examine and repair in many places in the plaster ceiling of our Cathedral Basilica. This time consuming and tedious task is necessary for the conservation of the beautiful ceiling and for the safety of those inside the Cathedral Basilica. As you can imagine, this work is completed at a great expense. I appeal to anyone who might be able to assist to offset this expense to consider making a contribution to this work. Thank you!

Next Sunday, the second collection will be directed to the Religious Education Programs of the Cathedral Parish. If possible, please make use of the on-line possibility of making your weekly offering. Thank you so very much for all of your goodness and generosity to the Cathedral Parish and to the Appeal for Catholic Charities.

God bless you,
Father Dennis Gill

Saints on Mission Summer Series The Queenship of Mary

Monday, August 26, 2019
6:00 PM

Drexel Hall (Below the Chapel)

Mary is the most well-known and influential woman in the history of the human race. No other woman has churches, states, cities, and roads named after her as does Mary.

No other woman has processions in her honor, novenas prayed to her, conferences to study her, or statues to commemorate her as does the Blessed Mother. She is unparalleled among us, to the point where we call her our Queen. But why this fascination? How has Mary been able to capture the hearts of minds of men and women generation after generation? And what might her life teach us today, especially in terms of the mission of the Church?

Communion for the Sick

The priests of the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul are anxious to serve the spiritual needs of their Catholic brothers and sisters who live in Residences such as Atria, Kennedy House, Penn Center House, Riverside Presbyterian, Watermark, Spring Garden Towers, and anyone else who may be confined to their homes. Therefore, if you are aware of anyone who would like a priest to visit and administer the Sacrament of Penance, the Sacrament of the Sick, and Holy Communion, please let us know. There is no better way that we can emulate Jesus Christ than by sharing his love with all whom he places in our paths, especially the sick and the aged who long for his healing presence.

Please pass the above requested information on to us by calling the Parish Office at 215-561-1313. Be assured of the love, concern, and prayers of your priests at the Cathedral, and in your goodness, pray for us that we may always be channels of Christ's love and peace to others. God bless you always and in all ways.

UNA SOLA PERSONA NO PUEDE HACER MUCHO

Asa Kent Jennings era un hombre de una consistencia física débil, que quería ser ministro metodista, pero la Primera Guerra Mundial truncó sus planes. Asa se apuntó en la Cruz Roja y prestó sus servicios en Francia y más tarde en Esmirna, una ciudad cristiana en la costa occidental de Turquía a donde él llegó justo cuando el ejército turco entraba en la ciudad. Los extranjeros huyeron, pero Asa se quedó junto a 350,000 griegos, armenios y judíos refugiados. Estaban atrapados por el mar en el extremo occidental y por los turcos en el extremo oriente. El ejército saqueaba, violaba y asesinaba, y después le daban fuego a la ciudad. Los barcos de guerra estadounidenses y británicos patrullaban la costa "para observar" pero no hacían nada en nombre de mantener una neutralidad. Sin ayuda ninguna Asa mantenía abastecimientos de alimentos para los refugiados. Determinado a evitar una masacre se fue a la zona de combate a reunirse con el temeroso líder turco Atatürk. Éste, increíblemente, aceptó que los refugiados salieran de Turquía de una manera segura. Asa contactó al gobierno griego para pedirle barcos, pero se mostraron renuentes a responder sin saber quién era Asa. Éste, siendo el único estadounidense que quedaba, audazmente se identificó como "el mayor oficial estadounidense en Esmirna". Después de amenazar a los griegos de descubrir su inacción, a Asa le dieron el mando de veintiséis barcos que navegaban bajo la bandera de los EE.UU., los cuales vinieron a recoger refugiados. Asa pasó el año siguiente dirigiendo una flota de cincuenta y cinco barcos por toda la costa turca y salvando a 1.2 millones de refugiados de una muerte segura. Se ganó el respeto de los gobiernos griego y turco, quienes le pidieron que negociara el intercambio de prisioneros entre los dos países. Las hazañas de Asa Jennings se han olvidado en su mayor parte, sobre todo en los Estados Unidos. Sin embargo, piensa en todos esos descendientes de aquellos refugiados rescatados y todo el bien que habrán hecho en este mundo, y todo debido a Asa Kent Jennings.

Called Into Relationship

Last week, I wrote a reflection entitled "Thy Will Be Done." One of the questions asked by someone reading it was, what about the vocation of the single life? I had referenced the following in a footnote: "Scripture does not present singleness as such as a vocation, for it does not include self-gift to another." Written by Fr. Thomas Dubay, S.M.,¹ this quote challenges us to consider our basis for what we know as the centuries old Vocations of the Church – priesthood, religious life and marriage – and how to consider the relatively more recently coined "single" vocation.

We begin by considering that a vocation is a call from God and is based in a relationship with Him and His Church, the Body of Christ. As those baptized, we are called to love the Lord our God with all our heart, mind, being and strength – all that we are, no matter what our vocation is – and to become saints through a relationship of Love. This Love then guides us into an exclusive relationship with God and His Church (priesthood, religious/consecrated life) or an exclusive relationship with another person (marriage). Through our Vocation, we fulfill our call to be spiritual fathers or mothers, and/or as biological and/or adoptive fathers and mothers. We respond to God's call to parenthood and we grow in holiness by first receiving His love for us, then returning it and in that exchange discover how He is calling us to become a self-gift for another – Christ and His Church or a spouse. This is why I think that Fr. Dubay writes that "singleness as such" is not a vocation: there is no self-gift in singleness. There is self-gift in marriage as spouses give of themselves to each other through vows and spousal union. There is self-gift in professing and living out the evangelical counsels as a priest, a religious, a consecrated virgin, or one who has taken personal vows under the guidance of a spiritual director. There is self-gift in what I would call "dedicated" singleness to Christ and His Church versus "singleness as such" or even a singleness of anticipation of a call to a Vocation.²

The call to follow Christ and take up our cross daily, to live by His commands, statutes and precepts as articulated by the Church, and to grow in holiness of life requires dedicated service to God and His Church. We do so as those who are priests, religious, married and those who live in single dedication to the Lord, either in the world or in the Church. Through spiritual direction, a prayer life and a relationship with Christ within the context of the Church, all necessary elements of the Christian life, one learns his/her place in the Body of Christ. It is through prayer and direction that we learn how to be in relationship with God: how we learn to let go of our self, our dreams, our hopes, our sins, our good ideas and thoughts, our good intentions, all that we are and lay it all down at the foot of the cross in order to listen. Through listening and prayer, we learn to say with Jesus, "Father, not My will but Your Will be done!" and with Mary, "I am the servant of the Lord, be it done unto me according to Your word!" Having then sought His Will and asking that our will be conformed to His, we discover how He is calling us into relationship with Him as priests, religious, married and those in a dedicated single life: where we belong in the Body of Christ, which is the Church. We live out our Vocation not apart and alone, but in community, for even the recluse knows that his/her vocation is in a relationship with Christ and His Church, not as a vocation of "singleness as such."

The Sixth Patricians Meeting Remain Steadfast in Your Faith

With a little help of the angels, like St. Raphael
Sunday, September 8, 2019, 12:45 PM □ 2:45 PM
Spiritual Director: Sister Mary Luchia, P.V.M.I.
Presenter: Mr. Thomas Koger*

Angels are spiritual beings who are constantly in God's presence. They serve as our appointed guardians, protecting, and watching over us at God's command. The Book of Tobit in the Old Testament tells of God's use of Archangel Raphael and how St. Raphael brings healing, guidance, marriage and reward for good works. Tobit remains steadfast in his faith during a challenging time of life. Tobit reminds us that God will reward good deeds and bring justice. Have you ever heard "the swish of passing winds?" Can you recall certain inexplicable happenings that left you puzzled and in awe? Please come to learn the story of Tobit and tell of your encounters with the angels!

Location: Archdiocesan Pastoral Center, Room 1307
September 8 is the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary. During the tea interval, a special lunch will be served to honor our Blessed Mother.

*Mr. Thomas Koger is a new convert. He received the sacraments of Baptism, Confirmation, and the Eucharist at the Cathedral during the Easter Season this year. Mr. Koger is a retired Elementary School Principal from the School District of Philadelphia.
