Dear Parishioners,

The story in the Gospel this Sunday about Zacchaeus is familiar to all of us. For many, the fact that stands out about this story is that Zacchaeus was short in stature and needed to climb a sycamore tree to see Jesus. While these are facts found in the story, there is so much more to the encounter between the chief tax collector and the Lord. Jesus only intended to pass through the town of Jericho but was distracted by Zacchaeus up in the tree. When Jesus spotted Zacchaeus, he ordered him to come down from the tree so that he might stay at his house. This encounter alone brought conversion to Zacchaeus. He immediately began to describe to Jesus how he was going to change his ways. This change of heart brought the salvation of the Lord to the chief tax collector. As the Gospel concludes, “For the Son of Man has come to seek and to save what was lost (Luke 19: 10).” My friends, much like Zacchaeus, with all our many limitations and weaknesses, we need to be constant in seeking to see the Lord. Our sycamore tree may be finding the quiet time in our day, arriving early to Sunday Mass, stopping into church at an off hour or any opportunity to be still and to focus on Jesus. When we meet him, encounter him, face him with ourselves, we see his love and mercy. He receives us with joy as he received Zacchaeus. And so, we too are ready to change, to turn away from sin and be faithful to his commands, to live as he gives us the grace to do so. As much as we want to see Jesus, he seeks us more so to save us now and for all eternity. I encourage you to allow the experience of this Sunday’s Gospel to be your experience not just for today but every day.

This Sunday is the kick off for the 2019-2020 Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary Appeal. A donation to the Appeal supports our seminarians, candidates for the permanent diaconate, and lay church leaders in their formation. Most importantly, your gift provides for the future of the Faith in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. Please see the insert in today’s Parish Bulletin for more information about this Appeal. Thank you in advance for your goodness to the Seminary. Father Biedrzycki, Monsignor D’Aezio and I are extremely grateful to all those in the past who have supported our Seminary to provide for our priestly formation. Presently, we have four seminarians from the Cathedral Parish who will benefit from your goodness. Deacon Epifanio de Jesus and Deacon Leonard Diana have been the beneficiaries of the goodness of the people of the Archdiocese for their formation at permanent Deacons. Our gratitude endures!

The Word of God speaks to Philadelphia in Celebration of National Bible Week is the title of the event to take place in our Cathedral Basilica on Sunday, November 17, 2019 at 3:00 PM. All are welcome! This will be an ecumenical service sponsored jointly by the American Bible Society and the Cathedral Parish. The Word of God will be announced to our City, a Word that promises healing and strength, the Word of truth and life, the Word that is Jesus. Christians from all over the City of Philadelphia and its region are invited to this significant occasion to praise God with his Word and to receive its blessing. Please see the insert in today’s Parish Bulletin for more information and help to spread the word!

Next Sunday, the second collection will be directed to the Saint Charles Borromeo Seminary Appeal. If possible, please make use of the on-line possibility of making your weekly offering. Thank you so very much for all your goodness and generosity to the Cathedral Parish, especially with the annual Parish Fall Collection and the Seminary Appeal.

God bless you,
Father Dennis Gill

REFLEXIÓN DEL PÁRROCO

Estimados feligreses,

La historia en el Evangelio de este domingo sobre Zaqueo nos es familiar a todos. Para muchos, lo que destaca de esta historia es que Zaqueo era de baja estatura y necesitaba trepar a un árbol para ver a Jesús. Si bien estos son hechos encontrados en la historia, hay mucho más en el encuentro entre el recaudador principal de impuestos y el Señor. Jesús solo tenía la intención de pasar por la ciudad de Jericó, pero Zaqueo lo distrajo en el árbol. Cuando Jesús vio a Zaqueo, le ordenó que bajara del árbol para poder quedarse en su casa. Este encuentro solo trajo la conversión a Zaqueo. Inmediatamente comenzó a describirle a Jesús cómo iba a cambiar sus formas. Este cambio de corazón trajo la salvación del Señor al principal recaudador de impuestos. Como concluye el Evangelio, "El Hijo del Hombre ha venido a buscar y salvar lo que estaba perdido (Lucas 19:10)". Mis amigos, al igual que Zaqueo, con todas nuestras limitaciones y debilidades, necesitamos ser constantes en la búsqueda de ver al Señor. Nuestro árbol puede estar encontrando el momento tranquilo en nuestro día, llegando temprano a la misa dominical, deteniéndose en la iglesia en una hora libre o cualquier oportunidad de estar quieto y concentrarse en Jesús. Cuando lo encontramos, lo encontramos, lo enfrentamos con nosotros mismos, vemos su amor y misericordia. Nos recibe con alegría como recibió a Zaqueo. Y así, nosotros también estamos listos para cambiar, para alejarnos del pecado y ser fieles a sus mandamientos, para vivir como él nos da la gracia para hacerlo. Por mucho que queramos ver a Jesús, Él nos busca más para salvarnos ahora y por toda la eternidad. Te animo a que permitas que la experiencia del Evangelio de este domingo sea tu experiencia no solo por hoy sino por todos los días.

Este domingo es el comienzo de la Campaña del Seminario San Carlos Borromeo 2019-2020. Una donación a esta causa apoya a nuestros seminaristas, candidatos para el diaconado permanente y líderes de la iglesia laica en su formación. Lo más importante, su donación prevé el futuro de la Fe en la Arquidiócesis de Filadelfia. Consulte el documento adjunto al Boletín parroquial de hoy para obtener más información sobre esta apelación. Gracias de antemano por su bondad al Seminario. El Padre Biedrzycki, Monseñor D'Adezzio y yo estamos extremadamente agradecidos con todos aquellos que en el pasado han apoyado nuestro Seminario para proporcionar nuestra formación sacerdotal. Actualmente, tenemos cuatro seminaristas de la Parroquia de la Catedral que se beneficiarán de su bondad. El Diácono Epifanio de Jesús y el Diácono Leonard Diana han sido los beneficiarios de la bondad de la gente de la Arquidiócesis para su formación en Diáconos permanentes. ¡Estaremos eternamente agradecidos!

La Palabra de Dios habla a Filadelfia en la Celebración de la Semana Nacional de la Biblia es el título del evento que tendrá lugar en nuestra Basílica Catedral el domingo 17 de noviembre de 2019 a las 3:00 p.m. ¡Todos son bienvenidos! Este será un servicio ecuménico patrocinado conjuntamente por la Sociedad Bíblica Americana y la Parroquia de la Catedral. La Palabra de Dios será anunciada a nuestra Ciudad, una Palabra que promete sanidad y fortaleza, la Palabra de verdad y vida, la Palabra que es Jesús. Los cristianos de toda la ciudad de Filadelfia y su región están invitados a esta importante ocasión para alabar a Dios con su Palabra y recibir su bendición. ¡Vea el documento adjunto al Boletín Parroquial de hoy para obtener más información y ayudar a correr la voz!

El próximo domingo, la segunda colecta se dirigirá a la Campaña del Seminario de San Carlos Borromeo. Si es posible, utilice la posibilidad en línea de hacer su oferta semanal. Muchas gracias por toda su bondad y generosidad con la Parroquia de la Catedral, especialmente con la Colecta Anual de Otoño de la Parroquia y la Campaña del Seminario.

Dios te bendiga,
Padre Dennis Gill

EVANGELIZATION

The Four Last Things – Death (Part 1)

A few year ago I came across a devotional book written by St. Alphonsus Ligouri entitled “Preparation for Death.” We do not often think about death as something we can prepare for outside of “making our arrangements” with a Funeral Director or our local Pastor. The Church sees things a little differently.

To assist her sons and daughters prepare well for the Lord when he comes she has recommended throughout the ages, the eternal truths. The eternal truths, or four last things, are: death, judgment, hell and heaven. As the liturgical year winds up in this calendar month, we will take some time in the coming weeks to look at each truth in succession and some of the practical considerations that follow from them for our faith practice day-to-day.

The first of the four last things is appropriately: death. In the Book of Ecclesiastes we read: “There is...a time to be born and a time to die.” St. Gregory of Nyssa reflect upon these words in the following way: “The fact that there is a natural link between birth and death is expressed very clearly in this text of Scripture. Death invariably follows birth and everyone who is born comes at last to the grave.”

The Catechism treats death in the following way. First, death is the end of earthly life. Death marks the end of the time we might merit that grace which redounds to our salvation in the here and now. Second, death is a consequence of sin. Scripture and tradition teach plainly that death entered the world through man’s sin(s). The God of life does not welcome death as such but in his goodness is able to use even so great an evil to man’s ultimate good. Which brings us to the third and final point: death is transformed in Christ. Death is now the portal by which man enters into the fullness of eternal life tasted only here below in part.

So how do we prepare for a good death (a death that leads to entrance into heaven). Simply, in order to “die well” we need to “live well.” What might that look like?

First: how well do I love God? Tangibly, do I have a habit of daily prayer, intimate conversation with God, and a vibrant sacramental life with regular confession and communion. At the end of our lives, tangibly this means “last rites.” When we know someone is in danger of death however conscious or unconscious we ought to try and ensure a priest is able to visit them. The “last rites” simply means the last sacraments and prayers of commendation we receive before our final journey to the Father. These ordinarily include: making a good confession, receiving the anointing of the sick, as well as Viaticum (our final communion before dying).

Second: how well do I love my neighbor? St. Ignatius Loyola, in his exercises recommends his retreatants at one point to consider the day-to-day decisions of life from their deathbed. Would we do things differently? Such considerations can spur us to ever more courageous acts of faith, hope and charity each day. Such acts benefit not only our own souls but those of the ones dearest and nearest to us as prepare to our own accounting on the last day.

Fr. Matthew Biedrzycki
